Thorough and scientific preparation of the soil produces strong thrifty seedlings for which we have built up a wide reputation. This photo of Redcedar seedlings was taken October 12th.

Our long experience has proven that stockier and thrifter trees are produced by transplanting in beds which produces trees of uniform quality. The Austrian Pine shown here grade 6-8 and 8-10 inch. Photographed October 12th.

This is a block of Juniperus communis depressa plumosa. One of the newest and best prostrate Evergreens. Note the strong thrifty growth. Twice transplanted, balled and burlapped size.

Juniperus pfitzeriana. An improved type of Pfitzer Juniper of robust growth and full and bushy. Our trees are staked up to about 2 feet in height to give a strong stiff stem, and produce a natural flat spreading top up off the ground. It takes longer to produce trees of this quality, but our customers appreciate the special pains we take in delivering something out of the ordinary in this variety.

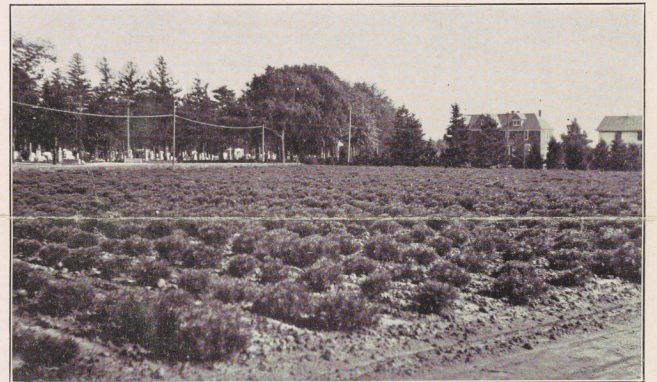

A block of White Spruce photographed October 12th. These trees have made an unusually strong thrifty growth this season as they started off well and we have had ideal growing weather. Each and every one a specimen. For prices and sizes see assortment quoted in this list.

Juniperus virginiana glauca. Photographed October 12th. Three times transplanted and twice root-pruned. Tops sheared and each individual tree staked. This is the kind of stock that will build business for you and our prices are right.

Our splendid stock of Swedish Juniper on the right and a portion of a block of Juniperus chinensis pfitzeriana on the left. Both varieties are trees of extra quality, grown with ample room for full development and are good sturdy stocky plants.

Hill's Mugho Pine, one of our leading specialties. Close, compact plants of a deep fresh green color. We have received many letters from our customers, expressing complete satisfaction on the quality of trees dug from this block. This is one of our leaders.

Juniperus virginiana cannarti. This choice landscape evergreen has been a leading specialty with us for many years. Its sterling qualities are composed of a deep green foliage which it retains throughout the year, and is interspersed with blue berries, making it very attractive.
